From 2004 to 2017, she is first Associate and then Partner at Luigi Prosperetti & Partners, a Milan-based boutique firm specialising in antitrust and forensic economics. In these years she has gained extensive experience as an economic expert in antitrust cases before the Italian Competition and Market Authority (AGCM) and the European Commission, in cases of abuse of dominant position (mainly in the pharmaceutical, telecommunications, energy, postal services), cartels (in the banking, telecommunications, cosmetics and technical gases industries) and mergers (banking, telecommunications and DIY goods sectors). She has acted as counsel in various cases before the sector Regulatory Authorities - AGCom – Communications Authority - and ARERA - Italian Regulatory Authority for Energy, Networks and Environment, with specific expertise in telecommunications and media, energy, water and postal services.

Finally, she has a long experience in civil litigation, in particular as technical expert, in antitrust and intellectual property infringement and in contract-related and non-contract-related liability proceedings.

Since 2016 she is a member of the Milan Register of Chartered Accountants and Auditors. She is mainly interested in industrial and competition economics, and more generally in economics applied to civil litigation.
